As a political correspondent for The Canadian Press in Ottawa since November 2002, Sylvain Larocque has closely followed the debate around the issue of same-sex marriage. During that time he has written countless stories about every aspect of the matter: the legal battle, the reaction of the politicians, the role marriage played during the latest election campaign, the Supreme Court's opinion and the recent bill tables in the House of Commons. Complete with interviews with politicians, ministers, lawyers, couples and activists, this book will give you a hard-hitting, behind-the-scenes look at the process that led to the recognition of same-sex marriage in Canada.
