Beyond the Forest Garden Robert A. de J. Hart

In search of an answer to two world-wide problems—degradation of the natural environment and the toll of avoidable ill health—Robert Hart developed his Forest Garden. This sequel to Forest Gardening describes his overall holistic philosophy to agroforestry. The book presents a world where the practical is inseparable from the spiritual, where ecology and health mingle, and where art and science are as important as food and drink. This work is a celebration of diversity and of wholeness, but it is also an accessible source of inspiration for everyone who seeks ways to ensure the sustainable future of our planet. Robert A. de J. Hart is the author of The Inviolable Hills, Eco-Society, and Forest Gardening, and co-author of Forest Farming.
